

November 22-23, 2010

Aarhus University, Denmark

Workshop on “Immigration, integration and school achievement”

financed by NCoE in Empirical Labor Economics

and the Danish Council for Independent Research (FSE)

The workshop consists of specially invited papers as well as contributed papers related to immigration, integration and school achievement. The presented research is expected to uncover the relationship between school achievement of immigrant youth and issues such as integration and intermarriage in the parent generation as well as peer and ghetto effects.

The four specially invited speakers at the workshops are key players within this area of research:

Brian Duncan, University of Colorado Denver

Peter Fredriksson, Stockholm University

Daniele Paserman, Boston University

Steven Trejo, University of Texas at Austin
